VÖÖDE

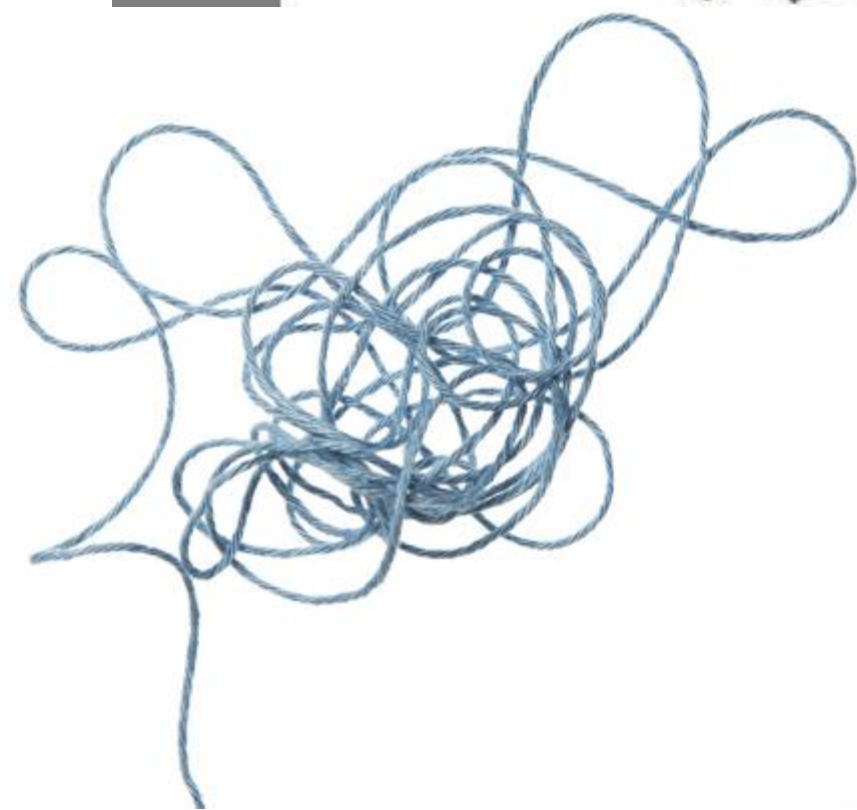

Let's make :

Performance Werkssocks
from Army Jackets

The ideal worksocks
made of worn Army Shirts

Functional socks of shredded Army Trousers...

VÖDDE

‘That pairs up nicely’

How we do it?

 VÖDDE

How we do this:

1

Old Uniforms we turn into yarns

Uniform clothes are put into very small pieces and then shredded into pulp. From this pulp new solid yarns are created.

Colored with minimal water and no-chemicals in any desirable color

VÖDDE

Extreme short lines for development

2 Yarns ready? Developed in Holland!

In Tilburg, Holland, we develop, knit and test socks. Sampling at rocket-speed...

Next step:

3

Data from the knittingcenter is send to the factory. Yarns are made in bulk and send also to the knitting location

Short lines, fast output

vodde is value

Vodde is dutch for 'rags'. The Ragman collected worn-out clothings in the early days door by door. He brought this to factories where they made paper from rags, mostly banknote paper.

We still believe in the value of rags and act on a large scale as the Ragman did: Creating value from worn goods
